Elene Ricklin x Crea-tiff bijoux

Hello sweethearts! I hope you have spent a merry Christmas with your family and loved ones and are looking forward for the new 2015 year. Our little blog has a new customized design that I hope you will like it!

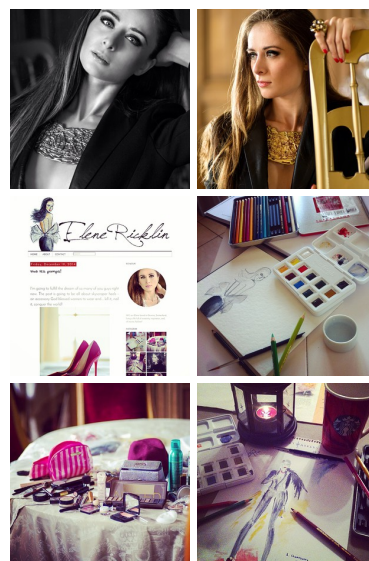

I thought it would be a lovely surprise to unveil our special collaboration with talented British jewelry designer Tiffany Rowe and her sculptural jewelry collection, just before the

New Year :)

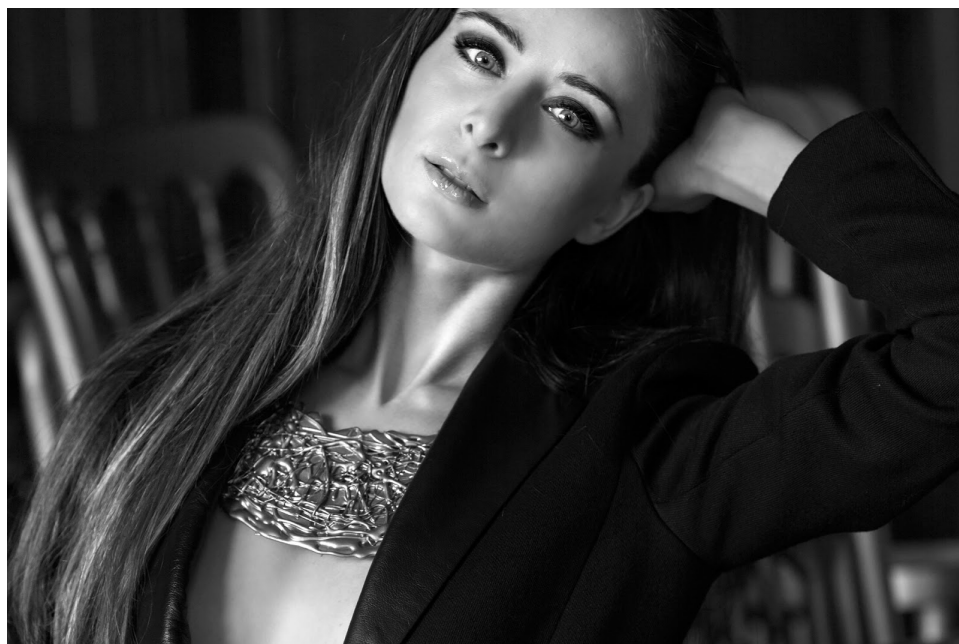

It was a pure inspiration to read the story behind every accessory and personalize it by adding on outfits for an additional twist and a touch of femininity and strength. For me, it's very important to meet the designer in person and get to know his/her personality, before discovering the jewelry. It allows me to feel the spirit of the brand and understand the philosophy behind it. In this particular case I had a pleasure to visit the showroom, discuss with Tiffany, taste some homemade cocktails and go behind the scenes of where these amazing pieces of Art are being created. I highly recommend to discover her jewelry and read the story behind every piece.

So, "for ladies who dare to be different" make an (online) line-up at www.crea-tiff.ch and visit her boutiques in Switzerland and Germany (you can find her jewelry in following boutiques <http://www.crea-tiff.ch/boutiques.htm>)

I thank Tiffany for her support and for being such an inspiring woman. Hoping that she will amaze us with more and more statement pieces of jewelry in 2015, I wish all of you a Happy upcoming New Year! Let it be the year of lifting the chains up - and living a dream life, exactly as we imagine and strive for.

Love,
x
Elene
